Introducing Sellars® All-New Reclaimed Rags

With our NEW Reclaimed Rags line, Sellars® is proud to introduce an old favorite to our recycled wiper selection. Reclaimed rags have been around for over 100 years in one form or another. These inexpensive rags still provide a tough, versatile wiping cloth.

At Sellars®, we're adding a few twists to freshen up a tried and true idea. First of all, we work hard to make sure that the weight and fabric type listed on the box is actually what is IN the box.

Second, we remove rags found in poor condition at both the grading and conversion stages. These measures are especially important to customers who've experienced reclaimed rags that were poorly sorted, improperly weighed or of an inferior quality in the past.

Sellars® All-New Reclaimed Rags are available in a variety of fabrics

Another way of giving back

Our final twist is the use of Job Corps, a no-cost education and career technical training program administered by the U.S. Department of Labor, in the creation of our Reclaimed Rags. Job Corps is the nation's largest career technical training and education program for young people age 16 years thru 24 that qualify as low income.

The process of recycling clothing already avoids wasted textiles, creates a significant revenue source for non-profits, provides low cost clothing for third world countries and reduces industrial activity normally associated with such processes as the creation and washing of rental rags.

Involving Job Corps is just one more way that Sellars®, and by extension you as a customer, give something back.
